A. R. HEYWOOD SAYS HE WILL HEAD REWARD FUND

A. R. Heywood and son, John, returned today from Montana where they have been visiting during the week. Mr. Heywood says that Montana is a great state and that Butte and Great Falls are examples of what progressive cities should be. The first news he received on his arrival home was of the recent developments in the Eccles blackmailing case and in talking the matter over, he said that he would be willing to subscribe to the fund of $5000 which he thinks should be offered as a reward for the capture of the black-hand gang.

REHEARSING FOR THE 'GIRL FROM PARIS'

Director T. Earl Pardoe and the Elks players are rehearsing every night to get the coming production of the "Girl from Paris" ready for the night of November 24.

Owing to unforeseen circumstances, which have made it impossible for him to continue with the leading male role in the play, that of Ebenezer Honeycomb, Mr. W. E. Sanderson has found it necessary to withdraw from the cast and owing to the nearness of the date of production, Mr. Pardoe was prevailed upon to step into Mr. Sanderson's role.

Director Pardoe is very much encouraged with the progress made and says that the play will be the best ever staged by the local Elks.

Life Savers Fail. Houghton, Wis., Nov. 10.—Captain Tucker and the Eagle Harbor life saving crew were compelled shortly after last midnight to abandon a desperate attempt to reach an unidentified steamer which lies stranded on Gull Island off Keweenaw Point, Lake Superior.

GIRL DENIES SHE IS ENGAGED TO MARRY SCHIFFLER

The comedy that was injected into the proceedings in Judge Reeder's sanctum this morning by nearly all of the principals whose names were called from the calendar, some of them being assisted by Assistant City Attorney Harcombe, may have been the cause of his "honored" lenient mood, but it is safe to say that when the two drunks who forfeited bail hear that their fellows who made their appearance, when called to answer to the same charge, went their way rejoicing under suspended sentences, they will have wished that they had taken a chance.

The first case called was that of H. E. Williams, charged with disturbing the peace. His case was taken under advisement. Buzz Austin and C. E. Johnson, booked as drunks, forfeited $5 bail each.

G. F. Dalton went under a suspended sentence from a charge of riding a bicycle on the sidewalk. John Reeves, W. W. Martin and John Doe were given suspended sentences after being warned by the judge to be very careful of their actions in the future. The later member of the trio, John Doe, was the man who was arrested on Friday night for obstreperous actions while on a street car and his protestations, that he would be very good in the future and the reasons given by him for being in such a condition, formed a big part of the pleasant morning given the court attendants and the curious crowd who filled the court room.

The case of W. M. Schiffler, the proprietor of a Twenty-fifth street shooting gallery, who was charged with carrying concealed weapons, was taken under advisement.

It appears that Schiffler has had in his employ for sometime past a very comely young lady. For some reason or other he has assumed that he was engaged to her and, on Saturday evening last, he saw her leave the shooting gallery with another man, whom she said in court this morning, was her cousin. Schiffler, doubtless letting jealousy get the better of him, took upon himself the liberty of playing detective and followed the couple up the street. They gave him the slip by going into a cafe on Twenty-fifth street near Grant avenue. Later, as they passed Smith's pawnshop, they glanced in just in time to see Schiffler put a revolver in his pocket. They then put in a call for the police who later arrested Schiffler as he was coming out of the Rex theatre.

In telling his story, Schiffler said that he had followed the couple because, inasmuch as he was engaged to the young lady, he had a right to know if she was "double crossing" him. He had lost track of them and, passing the pawnshop, had gone in to purchase a revolver to give as a prize in his gallery. He had then gone to his place of business where he had left the gun before going to the Rex theatre.

Before the hearing was over, Schiffler was well informed as to the limitations of his rights in following anyone, and the young lady emphatically informed the court, defendants and spectators, that she was not, had never been and never would be engaged to the "likes of him."

Do You Know that it is almost a year since I came here to Ogden and located in the Jewelry Business at 384 Twenty-fifth Street

When I first opened up, people used to come to me and tell me that my competitors said I would not last three months here. Well it is almost a year and I am showing no signs of quitting yet. In fact every day for the last three months my business has grown so that I have had to double my stock, and every day I am further convinced that my place is here—and that by doing the right thing by every customer that my business will grow farther.

I AM HERE TO STAY

I carry the most reliable kind of Jewelry Only, and I want to say that my success here has been due to giving everybody a square deal.

I guarantee everything I sell, from a pin to a Diamond Ring, to give absolute satisfaction, and I am only too glad to make good anything that does not.

ABSOLUTE SATISFACTION IS THE FOUNDATION ON WHICH I BUILD MY BUSINESS.

Won't you give me a chance to prove it?
